

GANGS IN INDIAN COUNTRY

November 14–16, 2011 • Warm Springs, Oregon

Who Should Attend

This training is being offered to sworn law enforcement officers. This is a specialized curriculum for tribal law enforcement officers who encounter gangs on the street and for state and local officers who work with them. Tribal law enforcement officers will be given priority for attendance. This class will provide basic, entry-level training to:

- Officers newly assigned to work with street gangs.
- Officers with limited experience, but little formal training in street gang investigations.
- Officers from small agencies for whom street gang investigation is an assigned, but additional duty.
- Officers who routinely work with tribal authorities.

Registration

There is no registration fee. This class is made possible through funding from the Executive Office for United States Attorneys, U.S. Department of Justice. We reserve the right to limit the number of attendees from each agency. Register online at <https://www.iir.com/registration/gic.aspx>.

The deadline for registration is Monday, October 31, 2011. Once your registration is received and accepted, a staff member from the Institute for Intergovernmental Research® (IIR) will e-mail or fax a confirmation memo. For security reasons, only those individuals having a confirmed advance registration will be admitted to the class, and registrations will not be accepted at the door. Law enforcement credentials will be required at check-in. Class check-in will begin at 7:30 a.m. on November 14. The class schedule is 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on November 14–16.
